Under Mr. Castellini's direction, locally renowned food and beverages are now served throughout the ballpark which broadly expands the traditional ballpark offerings. DICK WILLIAMS

PRESIDENT OF BASEBALL OPERATIONS

Dick Williams is in his third season as President of Baseball Operations and in his 14th season with the organization. He oversees all aspects of baseball operations, including the Major League team, player development, pro and amateur scouting, and the international operations. During the 2016 and 2017 seasons, he also held the title of general manager.

Williams worked under two general managers after joining the Reds. He worked for Wayne Krivsky from 2006 until mid-2008. He then worked for Walt Jocketty from mid-2008 through the 2016 season. Williams was the second-youngest executive to be promoted to General Manager for the Reds since Gabe Paul in 1951. During that time, the Reds have had 11 different GMs. Overall, Williams was the 18th general manager in the history of the team and the second, after Jocketty, to hold the title of President of Baseball Operations.

While Williams has worked in the front office, the Reds have made the postseason three times (2010, 2012 and 2013), winning the NL Central Division twice and the Wild Card once. The only other time in Reds history with as many playoff appearances in such a short window occurred during the Big Red Machine era, when that club made five postseason appearances in seven seasons between 1970 and 1976 and six appearances in 10 seasons between 1970 and 1979. When the Reds made the playoffs in 2010, it was their first appearance in the postseason in 15 years. The Reds were named the Organization of the Year by Baseball America in 2012.

One of the keys to the Reds' window of success from 2010 to 2013 was an improvement in the farm system. The talent in the Reds' minor league system was ranked 30th in the Major Leagues by Baseball America in 2006 when the new ownership group took over. Just two years later, the system was in the top five and has not ranked below 17th since 2006.

In 2016, Baseball America rated the Reds' June First-Year Player Draft the best of all 30 teams. Also during the summer of 2016, the Reds signed two Cuban players to add to their minor league system, SS Alfredo Rodriguez and RHP Vladimir Gutierrez. Both were ranked in the top seven of all international prospects by MLB. The Reds also had highly rated draft classes again in 2017 and 2018. Many the Reds' top 10 prospects have been acquired since 2016, including Nick Senzel, Hunter Greene, Taylor Trammell, Jonathan India, Vladimir Gutierrez and Mike Siani. At the beginning of each of the last 2 years, five Reds prospects were named in Baseball America's Top 100 prospects list, including Senzel (10th), Trammell (33rd), India (51st), Greene (57th) and Tony Santillan (69th) heading into the 2019 season.

In recent years, the team has executed waiver claims, completed trades and signed free agents to add from outside the organization. Players added in the last three years include Curt Casali, Luis Castillo, Scooter Gennett, Sonny Gray, Matt Harvey, David Hernandez, Jared Hughes, Matt Kemp, Yasiel Puig, Tanner Roark and Alex Wood, among others.

In addition to a continued focus on acquiring and developing talent, Williams is very interested in helping advance the team's analytics initiatives, which are improving the proprietary tools that aggregate scouting and statistical information and assist with decision-making. To that end, the team has made significant new investments in recent years into both personnel and infrastructure.

The team made several significant new investments this year in other areas of baseball operations including establishing a scouting presence in the Pacific Rim, expanding the scouting presence in Latin America, growing the domestic amateur scouting staff and increasing the Player Development staff to offer more personalized instruction to players. The team has also established Sports Science and Wellness initiatives that will benefit the organization at all levels. For the first time, the team sent several top minor league players to leadership training after the 2016 season ended and has continued that in the years since.

Following the 2018 season, the baseball operations department had significant personnel changes, including several newly created positions. The team named a new major league manager as well members of the coaching staff. There is also new leadership in the Amateur Scouting, Pro Scouting, International Scouting and Player Development departments.

Williams supervised the Florida operations of the team in the past and was a leader in the team's design and construction of a new training complex in Arizona, which opened for the 2010 season. In 2015, he also supervised the relocation and renovation of the team's training facility in Boca Chica, Dominican Republic.

Williams was born and raised in Cincinnati as a Reds fan. In the 1970s, he was paired with George Foster in a television advertisement for a team Bat Day giveaway. In the 1980s, he served as a batboy at Al Lopez Field in Tampa during Spring Training. In October 1990, when the Reds won Game 6 of the NLCS vs the Pirates on the way to their first World Series appearance since 1976, he was arrested for running on the playing field and joining the postgame celebration. He was sentenced to one day of community service, which he happily served, in exchange for having the trespassing charges dropped.

Williams' grandfather, W. Joseph Williams Sr., was one of the principal owners of the group that purchased the Reds in 1966. He served as Vice President of the club from 1966 to 1982 and as general partner from 1982 until he sold the team in 1984. As chairman of a small committee in 1967, Mr. Williams Sr. hired general manager Bob Howsam, who built the Big Red Machine championship teams. The Reds were baseball's dominant team in the 1970s, a decade during which they won six division titles, four NL pennants and the World Series in 1975 and 1976.

Williams' father and uncle were minority partners in the ownership of the Baltimore Orioles for two years in the mid-1990s and in the ownership group of the St. Louis Cardinals for the 10 seasons from 1996 through 2005. The Cardinals appeared in the postseason in six of those 10 seasons.

Williams attended the University of Virginia where he was a finalist for the Jefferson Scholar program before being named an Echols Scholar. After graduating from the University of Virginia, Williams worked in investment banking in New York for Morgan Stanley & Co. He worked in the Real Estate group servicing corporate clients as well as working on the firm's proprietary real estate investment fund. He then relocated to Atlanta to work for what is now called SunTrust Robinson Humphrey as a Vice President in Corporate Finance. Subsequently, he joined an Atlanta-based early stage venture capital fund at inception as a partner, which led to several years of work in the private equity industry.

Williams worked full-time in Washington, D.C., during 2003-04 at the campaign headquarters for the President of the United States. After the campaign, in early 2005, Williams was invited to participate in a bi-partisan U.S. delegation that traveled to Jordan and Egypt to meet with political leaders and social activists.

Williams is an instrument-rated pilot with more than 650 flight hours and more than 800 takeoffs and landings.

Williams is a Chartered Financial Analyst, a designation he achieved while working in investment banking in Atlanta. Among other requirements, charterholders must pass three separate six-hour exams that are only offered once per year. The exams cover a variety of topics including Quantitative Methods (probability and statistics), Economics, Corporate Finance, Accounting, Financial Analysis and Reporting, Security Analysis and Portfolio Management.

Williams is a member of YPO (Young Presidents Organization), a global platform for chief executives to engage, learn and grow.

Williams currently serves on the Board of Directors for the Boys and Girls Clubs of Greater Cincinnati, the Williams Foundation and the Cincinnati Reds Hall of Fame and has served in that capacity in the past for the American Council of Young Political Leaders and the Cincinnati Parks Foundation. A native of Cincinnati, he returned to the city in 2006 to join the Reds and he spends as much time as work permits his wife, their four young children and their dog.

Dayton Dragons (A)

In one of sports' most amazing records, the Dayton Dragons in 2018 extended their current streak of consecutive sell-outs to 1,316 games, an all-time high for sports in North America. The Dragons have now led all of Class A baseball in attendance in each of their 19 seasons of operation. Top Reds pitching prospect RHP Hunter Greene spent 4 months with the Dragons. On July 26, he fired a pitch at 102 miles per hour, the fastest ever recorded at Fifth Third Field. Greene also appeared in the Sirius XM All-Star Futures Game in Washington, where he pitched 1.1 innings and threw 19 fastballs, all of which clocked at 100mph or faster. One of his fastballs reached 103.1mph. LHP Packy Naughton became just the third player in Dragons' history to lead the Midwest League in strikeouts, fanning 137 batters in 154 innings.

REDS BALLPARKS THROUGH THE YEARS

UNION GROUNDS (1869-70)

Union Grounds served as the first home of baseball's original professional team. The park was located near the area now occupied by the Museum Center in the Union Terminal train station. Anchored by a grandstand called "Grand Duchess," the park could seat up to 4,000 fans.

AVENUE GROUNDS (1876-79)

The Reds headed two miles north from Union Grounds to erect Avenue Grounds, which featured a grandstand that could seat up to 3,000 fans. The ballpark was approximately four miles from the heart of the city's population, so horse-drawn streetcars and trains were a popular way to travel to the park.

BANK STREET GROUNDS (1880-83)

The Reds moved closer to the city with the opening of Bank Street Grounds prior to the 1880 season. The ballpark was located on the north side of Bank Street, south of Western Avenue and just west of McLean Avenue, and could seat up to 4,000 fans. Innovative scoreboard features included players' names and out-of-town scores.

LEAGUE PARK (1884-1901)

Originally called American Park (in reference to Cincinnati's membership in the American Association), the park was renamed League Park (in reference to the National League) in 1890. The park featured a covered grandstand with leather-cushioned seats and open seats along the first- and third-base sides.

PALACE OF THE FANS (1902-11)

Following a major fire, the Reds rebuilt the main grandstand of League Park in 1902. Today, baseball historians refer to the updated facility as Palace of the Fans. The park featured an illustrious grandstand with pillars and columns carved by hand, as well as 19 fashion boxes (much like opera boxes) and inexpensive field-level seating.

CROSBY FIELD (1912-70)

Originally named Redland Field and renamed in 1934, Crosley Field was the first Reds ballpark to feature a double-decked grandstand. The facility, located at the corner of Western Avenue and Findlay Street, was the site of baseball's first night game and hosted Cincinnati's first World Series Championship team.

RIVERFRONT STADIUM/CINERGY FIELD (1970-2002)

The Reds shared Riverfront Stadium/Cinergy Field with the NFL's Bengals until 1999. The multipurpose stadium, which could seat approximately 56,000 fans, was considered state-of-the-art upon its opening in June 1970. The facility hosted five pennant winners and three World Series Championship teams.

GREAT AMERICAN BALL PARK (2003-PRESENT)

On July 7, 2000, Great American Insurance Company, one of the oldest insurance companies in the United States, and the Cincinnati Reds, America's first professional baseball team, joined forces by announcing a 30-year agreement under which the new home of the Reds would be called Great American Ball Park. The facility, with room for more than 42,000 fans, includes a variety of seating and dining options, state-of-the-art sound and scoreboard systems and an array of historical elements scattered throughout. ScorePAD Sports, Inc.'s state-of-the-art STADIUMnet baseball scoring system provides a direct feed to scoreboard operations that includes a variety of in-game, season and career information about each player that can be shown on the scoreboards high above left center field and in right field.

CINCINNATI REDS HALL OF FAME

Eighty-one players, 5 managers and 3 executives have been elected to the Reds Hall of Fame since its inception in 1958, including 2018 inductees Dave Bristol, Adam Dunn and Fred Norman. From 1958–1988, fans chose the inductees. There were no elections from 1989–1997. From 1998–2004, voting was conducted exclusively by the local chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America. Today, elections take place in odd-numbered years with fans, Reds alumni and media members selecting a player from a ballot of players who appeared in a game within the last 13 years of the election year, and a Veterans Committee comprised of Reds Hall of Famers, media members and baseball historians who vote on players whose careers ended more than 13 years prior to the election year.

REDS RETIRED UNIFORM NUMBERS

JACKIE ROBINSON

Born: 1/31/1919 Birthplace: Cairo, GA Died: 10/24/1972 Number Retired: 1997

The first black player in the Major Leagues, Jackie Robinson played for the Dodgers from 1947-56. The 6-time All-Star was National League Rookie of the Year in 1947 and NL Most Valuable Player in 1949. In 1997, the 50th anniversary of his debut, every team in baseball retired his number. The last Major League player to wear #42 was Yankees pitcher Mariano Rivera, who retired following the 2013 season.

FRED HUTCHINSON

Born: 8/12/1919 Birthplace: Seattle, WA Died: 11/12/1964 Number Retired: 1965

Fred Hutchinson's 443 victories and .544 winning percentage as Reds manager still rank among the club's all-time best. The Reds won at least 90 games in 3 of his 6 seasons and in 1961 took the National League pennant. But the joy of a first-place finish was matched only 3 years later by the sadness of Hutch's death. The courage, class and determination Fred exemplified all his life were all the more evident during his battle with cancer. Hutch stepped down as Reds manager in 1964, and he died that November. The following year, Hutch's No. 1 became the first uniform jersey number in Reds history to be retired. Today, Fred Hutchinson's legacy lives on in the world-renowned Cancer Research Center that bears his name, and in The Hutch Award. It is given annually to a Major League ballplayer who "best exemplifies the character and fighting spirit of the late Fred Hutchinson...who overcomes any form of adversity." Past Reds winners include Ray Knight, Ron Oester, Eric Davis, Bobby Tolan, Johnny Bench and Sean Casey.

JOHNNY BENCH

Born: 12/7/1947 Birthplace: Oklahoma City, OK Number Retired: 8/11/1984

Cincinnati's uniform No. 5 belongs to perhaps the greatest catcher ever to play in the Major Leagues. Johnny Bench ended his 17-year storied career in 1983 after earning a pair of Most Valuable Player Awards, 10 Gold Gloves and 14 All-Star Game selections. He was inducted into the National Baseball Hall of Fame in 1989. Bench began his career by winning the 1968 National League Rookie of the Year Award. GREAT AMERICAN BALL PARK PLAYER STATUES

The home of the Reds features many visible acknowledgements of the club's rich history. Notable among them are the seven statues of Reds greats positioned near the park's entry gates. The first four statues installed at the ballpark feature players from the Crosley Field era while the others represent three of the legends from the Big Red Machine club of the 1970s. Each of the statues was created by nationally-renowned artist Tom Tsuchiya. In addition to the Reds, Mr. Tsuchiya has produced works of art for Major League Baseball, the National Baseball Hall of Fame and the National Football League.

TOM TSUCHIYA

CROSLLEY ERA STATUES

The four statues located at Great American Ball Park's Crosley Terrace main entrance represent four players that a fan vote determined best represented the Reds during the 1912–1970 Crosley Field era. The statues are positioned on a contoured field that evokes Crosley's famous outfield incline which was dubbed "the terrace." The scene depicts Joe Nuxhall pitching to Frank Robinson with Ernie Lombardi serving as Nuxhall's battery mate. Standing on-deck, awaiting his turn at the plate, is Ted Kluszewski. The Kluszewski, Nuxhall and Robinson statues were dedicated during Great American Ball Park's inaugural season in 2003. The Lombardi statue followed in 2004.

BIG RED MACHINE STATUES

JOHNNY BENCH

Dedicated by the Reds Hall of Fame and Museum in 2011

The subject of the first statue commissioned by the Reds Hall of Fame was Johnny Bench, the Big Red Machine's catcher who has been called "Baseball's Greatest Catcher." Known for having one of the most powerful throwing arms in the history of the game, the statue depicts Bench in the act of gunning down a runner trying to steal a base. The statue is located in the Hall of Fame Breezeway, just outside the main entrance to the Reds Hall of Fame on the West side of Great American Ball Park.

JOE MORGAN

Dedicated by the Reds Hall of Fame and Museum in 2013

Located at the corner of Joe Nuxhall Way and Second Street on the northwest corner of Great American Ball Park, the Joe Morgan statue captures the Reds' modern era leader in career stolen bases as he breaks for second base on a steal attempt. Possessing a combination of power, speed and superlative defensive skills, Morgan is widely considered to be the best second baseman in baseball history.

TONY PEREZ

Dedicated by the Reds Hall of Fame and Museum in 2015

One of the most beloved players in Reds history, Tony Perez was one of the great clutch hitters of his era and was the Big Red Machine's most reliable run producer. Perez's statue depicts "The Big Dog" in the follow-through of his home run swing in the seventh game of the 1975 World Series. Perez's home run sparked the Reds' comeback in the decisive contest that ended with the Reds clinching the first of back-to-back World Championships. The statue is located on Joe Nuxhall Way, near the entrance to the Reds Team Shop. Mounted atop the building directly across the street from the statue is a baseball that appears to be soaring over the building, just as Perez's World Series home run flew over the top of Fenway Park's "Green Monster" in 1975.

PETE ROSE

Dedicated by the Reds Hall of Fame and Museum in 2017

The fourth and final statue in the Big Red Machine series that began with the dedication of the Johnny Bench statue in 2011, the Pete Rose statue was dedicated in 2017 and is adjacent to the Tony Perez statue at the entrance to Great American Ball Park. This tribute to the Cincinnati native and all-time career hits leader depicts Rose in his trademark head first slide. Engineers from GE Aviation were enlisted to construct a special internal frame that allows the statue to accurately depict Rose "in flight."

SEPTEMBER 16, 1988: ONE PERFECT NIGHT

On September 16, 1988, left-hander Tom Browning tossed the only perfect game in Cincinnati Reds history when he retired all 27 batters faced in a 1-0 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

It was only the 14th perfect game of 9 innings or more in Major League history, just the third in modern National League history and the first no-hitter by a Reds pitcher since Tom Seaver blanked the Cardinals, 4-0, on June 16, 1978.

Browning's perfect game capped off an incredible season in which he posted an 18-5 record, including a 16-2 mark after June 6.

“1919 Black Sox Scandal”

Chicago White Sox Pitcher Eddie Cicotte and outfielder Shoeless Joe Jackson tearfully confessed to a Cook County grand jury that they and third baseman Buck Weaver, center fielder Oscar (Happy) Felsch, first baseman Arnold (Chick) Gandil, utility infielder Fred McMullin, shortstop Charles (Swede) Risberg and pitcher Claude (Lefty) Williams had conspired with known gamblers, allegedly including Arnold Rothstein, to throw the 1919 World Series.

While none of the 8 players were convicted in court, all were banned from the game for life by the first commissioner of baseball, former Federal Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

Weaver, who had known about the conspiracy from the beginning, refused to participate and batted .324 in the World Series. He was banned, however, for not exposing his teammates. Jackson, who admitted taking $5,000, batted .375 with a homer and 6 RBI.

Risberg committed 4 errors and batted .080, but did not receive a cent. Gandil - the organizer of the scam - walked away with $30,000 and immediately announced his retirement. Cicotte lost 2 of his 3 starts and earned a $10,000 payday. He later told the jury it was not worth the effort.

Game 7 @ CIN (Crosley Field) - White Sox 4, Reds 1

150TH ANNIVERSARY

In 2019, the Cincinnati Reds are celebrating the 150th anniversary of baseball's first professional team, the 1869 Red Stockings.

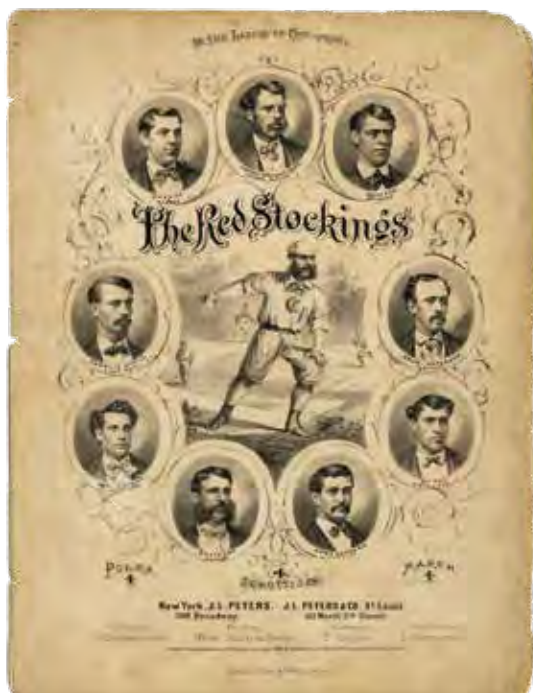

On November 5, 2018, the Cincinnati Reds unveiled their official 150th anniversary logo during a media preview at Great American Ball Park.

"We are extremely proud to be the birthplace of professional baseball," said Reds Chief Executive Officer Bob Castellini. "Fans and communities throughout Reds Country share this prestigious distinction with us. It is their loyalty and support that has allowed Reds baseball to thrive. This will be a 150th anniversary celebration of the franchise and the generations of fans who have been its champions."

1869 RED STOCKINGS

The 1869 RED STOCKINGS were the first openly all-salaried professional team in baseball history, transforming baseball from a social-club pastime to a professional game. In their inaugural season of 1869, the Red Stockings played opponents from across the country going undefeated with 57 wins, 0 losses. The team's success resulted in other cities establishing their own all-professional teams which became the basis of league play that still exists today. Furthermore, the Cincinnati Red Stockings created a lasting legacy that has carried through generations of Reds fans over the years.

1902 HOME

The Reds wore this uniform style during home games in the inaugural year of the ballpark that was christened the “Palace of the Fans.”

1911 ROAD

The 1911 season was one of several years in the first two decades of the 20th century that the Reds adopted a solid navy blue color scheme for their road uniforms.

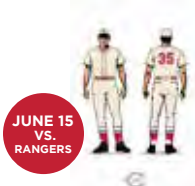

1912 HOME

This minimalist style was chosen as the home uniform design for the 1912 season, the debut season of Redland Field which was the ballpark built on the same site as the Palace of the Fans.

1919 HOME WORLD SERIES

To celebrate the Reds’ first World Series appearance, the club ordered new uniforms for the Series that featured a slightly altered C-Reds logo on the jersey fronts and a more pronounced claw shape to the “C” on the cap faces.

1935 HOME

The Reds wore this uniform style during 1935 home games which marked the last time the club has taken the field at home without the word “Reds” or a wishbone-C appearing on its uniforms.

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL RULES OF INTEREST

Calculating the "Magic Number": Determine the number of games to be played by the team in the lead. Add one to that number. Subtract from that figure the number of games ahead in the loss column from the closest opponent.

Determining Earned Run Average: Multiply earned runs by nine, then divide total by innings pitched.

Determining Batting Average: Divide total hits by total at-bats.

Determining Slugging Percentage: Divide the total bases of all safe hits by the total number of at-bats.

Determining On-Base Percentage: Divide hits + walks + hit-by-pitch, by at-bats + walks + hit-by-pitch + sacrifice flies.

Determining Fielding Percentage: Divide the total number of putouts and assists by the total of putouts, assists and errors.

The Winning Pitcher: The starting pitcher will be credited with the win only if the pitcher has pitched at least five complete innings and his team not only is in the lead when he is replaced, but remains in the lead the remainder of the game. EXCEPTION: The "must-pitch-five-complete-innings" rule in respect to the starting pitcher shall be in effect for all games of six or more innings. In a five-inning game, credit the starting pitcher with a game won only if he has pitched at least four complete innings and his team not only is in the lead when he is replaced, but remains in the lead the remainder of the game. When the starting pitcher does not meet the preceding criteria and more than one relief pitcher is used, the victory shall be awarded on the following basis:

- (1) When, during the tenure of the starting pitcher, the winning team assumes the lead and maintains it to the finish of the game, credit the victory to the relief pitcher judged by the official scorer to have been the most effective.
- (2) Whenever the score is tied, the game becomes a new contest insofar as the winning and losing pitcher is concerned.
- (3) Once the opposing team assumes the lead, all pitchers who have pitched up to that point are excluded from being credited with the victory except the current pitcher.

(4) The winning relief pitcher shall be the one who is the pitcher of record when his team assumes the lead and maintains it to the finish of the game. EXCEPTION: Do not credit a victory to a relief pitcher who is ineffective in a brief appearance, when a succeeding relief pitcher pitches effectively in helping his team maintain the lead. In such cases, credit the succeeding relief pitcher with the victory.

Earning a Save: Credit a pitcher with a save when he meets all of the following conditions;

- (1) He is the pitcher that finished the game won by his team.
- (2) He is not the winning pitcher.
- (3) He qualifies under one of the following conditions:
 - a. He enters the game with a lead of no more than three runs and pitches for at least one inning, or
 - b. He enters the game, regardless of the count, with the potential tying run either on base, at bat, or on deck (that is, the potential tying run either already on base or is one of the first two batters he faces), or
 - c. He pitches effectively for at least three innings.

Consecutive Game Hitting Streak: A consecutive game hitting streak shall not be terminated if the player's plate appearance(s) results in a base on balls, hit batter, defensive interference or sac bunt. The streak shall terminate if the player has a sac fly and no hit. Hitting streaks do not carry over from season to season.

Consecutive Game Playing Streak: A consecutive game playing streak shall be extended if the player plays one-half inning on defense or if he completes a time at bat by reaching base or being put out. A pinch-running appearance shall not extend the streak. If a player is ejected from the game by an umpire before he can comply with the requirement of this rule, the streak shall continue.

Rain Delays: Pursuant to Rule 3.10(a), the manager of the home team shall be the sole judge as to whether a game shall be started because of unsuitable weather conditions or the unfit condition of the playing field, except for the second game of a doubleheader. Pursuant to Rule 3.10(c), the umpire in chief shall be the sole judge as to whether and when a game shall be suspended and as to whether and when play will be resumed. An umpire shall not call a game until at least 30 minutes after he has suspended play. He may continue the suspension as long as he believes there is any chance to resume play.

National League Curfew: There is no curfew in the National League. The game is in the hands of the umpires once it has started.

Major League Year: 172 days of service time constitutes a full year in the Major Leagues.

Rookie Status at the Major League Level: To be considered a rookie, a player must not have more than 130 at-bats, or 50 innings-pitched in the Major Leagues during a previous season or seasons, nor more than 45 days on a Major League roster during the Major League 25-player limit (excluding time in the military).

BASEBALL IN GOODYEAR

In 2010 the Reds moved their spring training and player development operations to the west Phoenix, Arizona suburb of Goodyear.

The club made the move from Sarasota, Florida, where it had trained since 1998.

In addition to the spring training and player development operations, Goodyear serves as the summer home for the Reds' rookie Arizona League affiliate.

Spring training games are played at nearby Goodyear Ballpark, a facility the Reds share with the Cleveland Indians.

On July 14, 2008 the Reds and the City of Goodyear finalized the terms on a binding use agreement that paved the way for the team to move its spring training facilities there in 2010.

The agreement includes a 20-year lease that began in 2010 and two 5-year team options.

The Reds broke ground on their new spring training complex on November 17, 2008.

The Reds' Player Development Complex on South Wood Boulevard includes a 44,000-square foot clubhouse, 6 full practice fields, 2 half fields and an agility field.

The main ballpark seats more than 10,300 fans, including 500 premium box seats, 8,000 fixed seats and space for 2,000 spectators on a grassy berm in the outfield.

Plans are for the stadium to be the centerpiece of Ballpark Village, a mixed-use development featuring offices, shops, restaurants, housing, hotels and a conference center.

The Indians' instructional league team moved to Goodyear in September 2008, while their first Major League spring training camp was held in the new facility in February 2009.

Beginning in Spring 2010, 15 Major League Baseball clubs train in Arizona and 15 train in Florida.
